From Tor to Tor

Well, it was a splendid run across Dartmoor on a wonderful rain free evening with awesome views ... transiting from Tor to Tor. Rumour has it that there were a few too many checks!. Some shortcutting ... umm ... Hurricane, Pimp, H and Minnie ... and a Pew Tor turnaround from Biff.

Our hares also arranged for us to enjoy a magnificent sunset. Made the evening for Psycho and Can't Remember, they reminisced over their drinks.

Spike mourned the loss of his running battle against a younger Argylle who beat him by a country mile.

Biff's hash exertions were constrained through earlier excessive exercise involving paddle boarding and other aqua activities. It was reported that Hurricane and Lost were practising their synchronised falling off of paddle boards. A sight to behold!
Apparently Wobbly Knob does it in his hat !*?

Racey also took the plunge, in her first Triathlon. The Little Dragon race took place in Bodmin with an 8 mile bike ride, 200m swim and 1.5 mile run. Coming second in her age group this was an impressive achievement as she's only really been swimming for a year. Congratulations!

Dodo has joined the growing list of hasher power tool injuries as he tried to refashion one of his fingers with an electric plane during the week.

By all accounts Commando wine and dined the Committee in Middle Eastern style recently. A topic of discussion was recruiting new members. Any ideas welcomed.

We understand that Biff was saved from blushes by Gannet who helped preserve her modesty as she changed in the pub!

Ginger Rogers was abandoned by housemates apparently too comfortable in their dressing gowns and slippers to don their running shoes.
