Ahoy hashers. As this is my first Hash Mag since being elevated to the exalted position of Scribe master, I feel obliged to offer my heartfelt thanks to the previous committee for my promotion to this much coveted and highly desired position. I also feel obliged to offer my most humble commiserations to all my fellow hashers, whose most fervent desires and ambitions are to aspire to this lofty and venerated position. Although you may have been disappointed this time I feel sure that your time will come!!

Let me assure you that I shall spread my favours widely; there is no need for thoughts of despondency and despair that you will miss out on an opportunity to scribe and make your contribution to our weekly extravaganza of factual observation, impeccable punctuation and grammar, tasteful wit and all on a single sheet of A4 (lets face it, running to two sheets is frankly just showing off).

Finally to all of you who have bombarded my email inbox and sent me countless texts expressing your desire to be scribe, I thank you for your abundant enthusiasm.

Our arrival at Lamerton was to a damp and misty evening, with little cheer being proffered by Fergie warned us of the perils of various kinds of excrement, ranging from cow to sheep but hopefully not hasher.

There was also a warning about rampaging bullocks; little did we expect that Emily would have to take to the trees to avoid them.

Uncle was assisted on the hash by a dashing young farmer, who showed her the way. To where or to what I feel we must leave to the imagination.

A woman takes a lover home during the day while her husband is at work.

Her 9-year old son comes home unexpectedly, sees them and hides in the bedroom closet to watch.

The woman's husband also comes home. She puts her lover in the closet, not realizing that the little boy is in there already.

The little boy says, "Dark in here."

The man says, "Yes, it is."

Boy - "I have a baseball".

Man - "That's nice."

Boy - "Want to buy it?"

Man - "No, thanks."

Boy - "My dad's outside."

Man - "OK, how much?"

Boy - "$200"

In the next few weeks, it happens again that the boy and the lover are in the closet together.

Boy - "Dark in here."

Man - "Yes, it is."

Boy - "I have a baseball glove."

The lover, remembering the last time, asks the boy, "How much?"

Boy - "$500"

Man - "Sold."

A few days later, the father says to the boy, "Grab your glove and ball, let's go outside and have a game of catch".

The boy says, "I can't, I sold my baseball and my glove."

The father asks "who did you sell them too?"

Boy says "a friend"

The father asks, "How much did you sell them for?"

Boy - "$700."

The father says, "That's terrible to overcharge your friends that way.

That is way more than those two things cost. I'm going to take you to church and make you confess."

They go to the church and the father makes the little boy sit in the confession booth and he closes the door.

The boy says, "Dark in here."

The priest says, "Don't start that shit again, you're in my closet now"

The new pirate GM, Captain Well Laid, or Long John Saliva according to Glani. Called the hash to order for the hash hush, with a blast on his hornpipe. He cut a swashbuckling figure; with gyrating hips and pelvic thrusts, (putting Elvis to shame) and was that a codpiece or a misplaced salami sausage from Lidl... amidst a lot of Aaarrrrring and Uurrrhhhring, He requested that hashers observe the niceties of "Kicking out" the checks and calling the 'On On's, failure to comply may result in having to "walk the plank" or worse still "take a turn in the barrel"

Three changes to the committee were also announced:

Grandpa to Joint Master

Wobbly Knob to Hare Master

Cheddar to Hon Sex-Sec

One happy birthday sung; to Footloose who is 18 this week, best wishes Charlotte.

Two returnees this week where Exocet and Hot Fuzz, welcome back.

My thanks to Russ Abbot for this delightful image.

I had chosen a witty caption (well I thought so) but this was cut by the censor in chief.

However I am confident that you will be able to come up with a few suggestions!!

On On!
