Wading through Tavy Cleave ...

Queenie astounded critics with an overwhelmingly excellent run ... enjoyed by all despite the disappointment of no bare bosoms' or risk of mugging ... Even the weather was on cue!

The highlights ...

Well water featured quite highly on everyone's lists. There was an awful lot of it. Roaring along in the river ... puddling here and there ... brooding in morasses and running freely along paths now resembling streams complete with duckweed!

The Olympic feeling percolated through to Lane End ... the human chain across the river stirred many hearts ... hashers pulling together despite cold toes and a roaring current. Queenie even waited for Uncle to catch up ...

Lost was transfixed by the quality of the light ... and there were tears in several people's eyes as they recalled the stunning views from the top of Ger Tor. Gannet and Scrotum were seen hand in hand ... or was that in the river!

Greasy Rollocks and Jo were very grateful for the human chain that helped them on their way. They also received assistance from some local spectators when they got lost; and they still managed to get 'Home' before Betty Swollocks and Sam ... the latter having managed to cross the river 3 times and get lost at least once or twice! Jo voted this his best hash yet!

Mayhem was another member of the 'Cross 3 Times Club'. The human chain was clearly irresistible. And there was yet another report of a nearly new hasher crossing the river 3 times on all fours!

Boil, 9 Inch, Pimp and almost a virgin Cara were commiserating, having turned back at the water's edge. They were apparently suffering from post-vacation rust!

Marcus luckily didn't inflict any further damage on his broken ulna despite falling several times! A Bonny virgin also fell, but still loved it even after getting lost after the river.

Mo will now pay Dartmoor gorse particular respect having been wacked in an unimaginably painful place! Not to be repeated!

Dogcatcher and Charlotte had to retire early and missed the wetter aspects of the evening's entertainment. Dogcatcher passed the time by filling his boot with bits of Dartmoor soon to be part of his tunnel. It didn't seem to slow down his driving though! Uncle had to beat a rapid retreat into a ditch to avoid a splatting!

There was even mention that the Mary Tavy Thespians were involved in the evening.

Meanwhile Caught Short missed out on the excitement ... sat in the Elephant's Nest on her tod! The staff were quite alarmed to think they may be descended upon unannounced by TVH3 in full throttle!

Racey was also absent from the pack. According to Windy she was in pursuit of the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow they spotted on the drive in.

On Down Highlights

Grand Mattress enjoyed a snog with Tweedle Dee who was sporting his newly gained and delectable '400 Run' bluebell look-a-like hat!

Namings

We now have a 'Bottom' ... Ben's tattoo however didn't see the light of day ... Grand Mattress felt this would be insensitive in front of the grockels innocently entrapped within the On Down! And Lady Sarah became Fergie!

There was a later suggestion that Mandy should be named 'Once a Year' to recognise her attendance record!

Congratulations ...

To the organisers of the Hash Hang Out!. A really great evening enjoyed by all. There was much talk over the sight of Uncle clambering up the wall without hat or rucksack! The evening also seems to have inspired a number of ex-clingons to dust off their shoes and belts! A re-run later in the year may be on the cards.

Breaking News ...

Tosh Potty is counting down the weeks before she leaves us for her world tour! She'll be away for at least 18 months.
