First of all, to echo last week's hash mag comments, there was a fine Hash turnout for Slush's wedding reception last Saturday. We all had a great time, though none more so than Footloose, who led Dogcatcher a merry dance for most of the evening.

I understand that a rather inebriated Glani, Posh Pinny, Nipple Deep and Dildo were "poured" into the car at the end of the evening.

As a hash, we presented the happy couple with an olive tree and a John Lewis voucher.

I'll leave you to provide your own caption for the following photo, suffice to say Slush is looking very pleased with himself...

On to the hash, set from Pork Hill car park. Sadly, the low cloud and mist prevented us from enjoying what is normally a fine view west towards civilisation (Cornwall), but this did not stop us enjoying a great hash. Indeed it was rated as "the best hash ever," according to an effusive Scrotey, though his involvement as a hare may just have swayed his judgement.

It is worth noting the said Scrotey's selfless dedication to hashing in setting the route. He is, as we are all tired of hearing, unfortunate enough to be gluten intolerant, and this resulted in his having to don special PPE whilst laying the evil gluten-laden flour. Funds did not it seems stretch to 12 bags of GF alternative dust. Meanwhile, sidekick Gannet was proud to announce that she had completed 33589 steps during the day!

The most amusing moment was before we'd even started, when On the Khazi, taking his turn to use the traditional toilet bush, momentarily lost his concentration and accidentally impaled a very delicate part of his anatomy on the gorse! With that name you might think he would be a urination expert, but no. He remained in clear "discomfort" for the rest of the evening, leaving Naughty Boy in hysterics!

The shorts all made it back before any longs had appeared. This disparity might be explained by the description of the hash by Dodo (whose knees are apparently "buggered"), as being "a very sociable, short hash", "relaxed" and "not a lot of effort". I can confirm that the longs visited enough tors and streams on their rather more testing route to have a rather different but nonetheless positive view.

This hash also witnessed the return of Borat, after an absence of about 8 months. In that time he has grown a ponytail, which according to Chopper made him "unrecognisable from behind."

A few administrative notes:

- The Roscoff trip has been postponed until April.
- Lost is organising a cycling day on the Camel Trail, on 7 October.
- All are welcome to join the canoeing on the Tamar this Saturday coming – see Hurricane for details.

Selected quotes from the On Down:

Naughty Boy: "So Sausage Pincher is your hash name?"

Hurricane: "I feel like a slug."

Posh Pinny: "I was a little fuzzy headed in the morning. Never mix your grapes."

Glani: "Look at all the wusses using their headtorches."

Slush: "Nipple Deep will be buggered 'til Christmas."

Biff: "It's such a long time since I had something long and curly."
