You know how it is. You try to write an amusing hash mag, keeping it light and friendly, jocular even. But timing is all.

There you are in the pub, not a care in the world, when Gannet creeps up on you and whispers in your ear that it's your turn. Suddenly, a week later, your stuff is all over the pub, Gannet is looking frustrated and you are deeply embarrassed. Yes, premature jocularisation can happen to the best of us. It's nothing to be ashamed of. Here are my top-tips for avoiding this hash humiliation.

Communication is the key. Let Gannet tell you exactly what she wants and when she wants it. Be patient. Accidents happen. With practice and concentration you can have a beautiful experience together that all the hash can enjoy.

Don't rush things, start with a few one liners –

- a man goes to the doctors with a strawberry growing out of his head. Doc says 'I'll give you some cream to put on that'

- a man goes to the doctor and says 'what can you give me for wind?' Doc gives him a kite

Good. Then something a little longer -

- 1 in 5 people in the world are Chinese. There are 5 people in my family so it must be one of them. It's either my mum or dad or my older brother Colin or my younger brother Ho-Cha-Chu. But I think it's Colin.
