The Charge of the Hash Brigade

Shiggy to right of them,
Shiggy to left of them,
Shiggy in front of them,
Squelched and mired;
Stormed at with water and mud,
Boldly they ran and warmed the blood
In through the doors of the Rock Inn,
Into the house of Beer.
(Apologies to Lord Tennyson)

A hash at Norsworthy Bridge is always a treat, as it is the perfect venue for the perfect hash. And, so it was, last Monday's hash was absolutely marvellous. A cunning and deceptive jaunt through some of the muddiest ground on Dartmoor. It was time to throw off the shackles of adulthood and release the child within. The hash was summed up by Well Laid. "Some dirty buggers, set a dirty run, through some dirty dirt, so we ended up with the dirty dirt on our dirty legs". Well Laid reckoned that he had been willy deep (as opposed to Nipple Deep) in the goo, and was still wearing his underpants in the pub to prove it. Old Ernie was being shown up by Ganett, who was clearly revelling in the mire, and running like a demon. Scrotey was in his element too, and well chuffed at getting to the front of the longs for Tamar Valley Hash House Harriers once. Throwing off his Boris Johnson wig, pot belly and bike, Tamar Valley Hash House Harriers he was delighted that the young keenies were struggling in this serious shiggy. The youngsters hadn't encountered anything like it before, and he was able to power past them and into the lead. Not that the hash is a race, of course, but one up for the old farts. Penny Farting, said that it was by far the best has he had been on. So, Scotey, Ganett and Fergie the standard has been set. Can you take up that challenge for your hash next week? Well the challenge set this week was to describe the hash in 3 words only, it's funny how only the literately Gestapo struggled with this....
