"I'm Pink, Therefore I'm Spam"

(Kylo Ren Dez-Carts, Star Wars Episode 10)

So, our virtual hare, Dildo Baggins, called us to order in The Plague Village of Eyam, Derbyshire, and set us off on our virtual hash. As many virtual checks, virtual on on's, virtual on homes as we wanted.... It was all in our heads. Posh Pinny and Can't Remember got out of their heads on virtual gin (thinking about it, it had to be real gin, or else why bother). Hot Rocks and Vampire Slayer just sat around drinking Collytown Blond (Hic!)

A few not able hashers were missing from the fray this week. Bat & Sturmer are self-isolating on their lifeboat in the middle of the Atlantic, Russ Abbot is suffering from a genuine, bona fide broken arm (nothing virtual about this, but he said he would try anything to avoid Cannon Fodder's driving), Underlay, Well Laid, Windy and Racy are still dreaming of doing a virtual tour of Spain and Pimp, Scupper Sucker and Piston Broke just argued about who was going to do the virtual driving to Derbyshire, so they never left Plymouth.

Cabin Boy was by far(t) the speediest of the hashers out there this week. Years of training have honed his body into that of the true racing whippet. He managed to clock up 100 miles in about 100 minutes according to Strava. His best mile split was in the order of 30 seconds. Sister Sludge on the other hand, in true hash spirit, was taking things much easier and was WABJAB-ing her way round. For those keenie runners out there, that's Walk A Bit, Jog A Bit. Over the years H, Minnie, Gnashers, Tampax, Uncle and Cheddar have really perfected this style.

Wobbly Knob has been leading Hurricane astray this week, and both have been running across private land in order to short cut to the front of the hash. In an interview with local police Wobbly Knob said:

"It's a fair cop, guv, but Society's to blame.....and Nipple Deep made me do it".
Hurricane, true to his name, just breezed off into the distance.

Away from the HASH this week there has been an invasion of Belted Galloways in Clearbrook. Raunchy and Chopper have been ooing and aahing all week about them. Embarrister and Hot Socks have joined in from a socially acceptable distance. Landlords Pony & Von Trapp are not impressed as Raunchy & Chopper now have a herd of cows and the Isle of Wight ferry in their living room. Poop! Poop!

"Oh yeah! Oooh! Aaah! That's how it always starts. Then later it's running and screaming". Name that film.

Debarkle is back!!!! Not running of course, but filling up the TVH3 Corona Social WhatsApp group with lots of videos of nonsense and frivolity. I wouldn't mind but my NUMEROUS other WhatsApp groups all have the same videos posted on them. I think Fergie 'had a word', you know what I mean, nudge nudge, wink wink, say no more, and now no amusing vids to be seen. This mantle has now been passed to Slush. Look out Slush, SHE'S BEHIND YOU!!

Is there marital strife in the Glani & Biff house hold? Last week's Hash Zoom get together would seem to indicate yes. Communing with the hash from 2 separate rooms was bit odd. Or was it something to do with the wriggling pussy on Glani's lap?

And finally.....this week's song playlist includes:

Run to the Hills -	Iron Maiden
Keep on Running -	Spencer Davis Group
Born to Run -	Bruce Springsteen
Run to You -	Bryan Adams
Nowhere to Run -	Martha Reeves and the Vandellas
Turd on the Run -	The Rolling Stones
Run Run Run -	Jo Jo Gunne
Running with the Night -	Lionel Richie

On! On!
